1,000 Books Set As Objective For Coleman Library

Facilities of St. Paul's Church Hall to be used for Present; Drive Has Already Noted 500 Books.

The Young People's Association of St. Paul's United church has set itself an objective of 1,000 books, both reference and fiction, with which to start a library in Coleman. Last week a drive was made to secure books from local citizens and approximately 500 were collected.

A committee from the Lions Club met the Library executive on Saturday afternoon to determine how best the club could help the young people in this voluntary task. At the moment finance plays a very little part in the executive's activities. The church hall at St. Paul's has been given for the present and the books will be placed on shelves and catalogued. 500 books have already been collected and a grocery truck has been made available to pick up books at any local address free of charge.

At the moment the executive is concerned with receiving books suitable for public and high school students either in the world of fiction or reference books.

It was considered that the best manner in which both the Lions and Elks could help would be to talk "library" among themselves and among the public generally and thus encourage persons with books suitable for the library, and for which they personally have no further use, to give them as gifts to the library.

It is planned to keep the library open one night per week from 3:30 to 6 and both students and adults will be invited to make use of the books.

The Lions committee was asked to take the initiative in sponsoring a library suitable for the entire community and bring it under the Federal library act and thus received federal grants yearly. The subject will be debated at a future Lions meeting.

Plumbers On Job At Municipal Hospital

Plumbers, twelve strong, are busy installing pipe throughout the new municipal hospital this week and should complete their work by the end of this week. Once construction advances in greater degree they will return to their job.

One of the boilers has been placed and a bricklayer is busy on the preliminary stages of a large chimney. While the outside scene appears one of desolation it is a beehive of activity inside the building.

Only one bricklayer was on the job Tuesday afternoon but a gang of bricklayers was expected to arrive at the site on Wednesday having come from Saskatoon. Apparently the high wages paid in the Pass district is working a hardship on the contractor as he finds it difficult to secure local unskilled labor and a gang of seven men is expected to arrive from Calgary to help with construction work.

Much detail work has been done and the building should advance rapidly just as soon as weather conditions permit comfortable outside working conditions.

GIVEN SOCIAL EVENING

Ladies of the committee and waitresses, who aided in so successfully sponsoring the Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie Golden Wedding anniversary celebration were guests of honor at a social evening given by the seven daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie in their Fifth street home on Wednesday evening.

Around The Town

Spring, beautiful spring appears to have arrived at last. The days are mild and water runs merrily down the streets, through back yards, into basements, anywhere apparently but where it is supposed to run . . . in the drainage ditches.

PITY THE MAJOR
As is to be expected when water finds its way into a basement the householder loses no time in reaching for a pick and shovel and starts digging his own drainage ditch. It is then that the "City Fathers" come in for some sharp tongued criticism and the bulk falls on the broad shoulders of the mayor and the Public Works department. However it is an annual occurrence, no one suffers any serious damage and everyone is too happy that the cold weather and snow is on the way out and one can look forward to nice spring weather and warm summer days.

START CLEANING UP
Contractor Joe D'Appolonia had men busy Monday moving the debris from the burnt-out main street lots. Wif. Dutl was also on the scene examining radiators and his boiler to determine the extent of the damage to those pieces of heating equipment.

SPRING IS BEING BRIGHT
Contractor Joe D'Appolonia had men busy Monday moving the debris from the burnt-out main street lots. Wif. Dutl was also on the scene examining radiators and his boiler to determine the extent of the damage to those pieces of heating equipment.

A cold east wind blew through Blairmore on Tuesday afternoon but here, in the banana belt, we were favored with much milder weather. The corner at Modern Electric was the scene of a miniature lake as the drainage became plugged. Many an olderster was to be seen jumping spryly over the water to dry land.

Mrs. Maria Hadfield Passed Away In Nova Scotia Jan. 12

First Came to Coleman in 1905 And Resided Here Twenty Five Years; Was in Her 88th Year.

Mrs. Maria Hadfield, aged 88, former Coleman oldtimer passed away January 12 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Gillette, of Bedford, on Monday, January 12.

Mrs. Hadfield and family first arrived in Coleman in 1905 from Cannons and Mr. Hadfield built the two-storey house at present occupied by Ernest Kennedy on Third street. They also later resided in the John Clarke two-story building on Sixth street.

Mrs. Hadfield was a strong supporter of the Victoria Rebekah lodge. Mr. Hadfield, who pre-deceased his wife in 1943, was a fireboss at International for many years. He died at Picton, N.S.

In 1928 they moved to eastern Canada and Mrs. Hadfield had been residing with her daughter prior to her last illness.

In addition to Mrs. Gillette, three sons survive, Mayor Enoch Williams, of Blairmore, Herb, who will be remembered as a clerk to the late Howard C. McBurney in the latter's drug store, and who now resides at Nevis, Alberta, and Joe, a resident of Richmond, California.

Mr. And Mrs. David Gillespie Celebrated Golden Wedding Anniversary; Banquet And Dance

Approximately 150 Friends Gathered to Pay Honor to Esteemed Couple; Presented With Gifts And Wished Many More Years of Happily Married Life

Friday, March 12, will be a day that will ever be remembered in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie for it was on that day that approximately 150 friends crowded their way into the IOOF hall to pay honor to the esteemed couple on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary and showered them with good wishes and appropriate gifts.

The good wishes, sumptuous banquet on gayly decorated tables with a large Scottie flag draped behind the head table, splendid concert, presentation of gifts and a dance featuring old Scottish favorites literally swept the honored couple off their feet.

A committee headed by Mrs. Wm. Roughhead and Mrs. J. Kinney sr. had worked unceasingly for many days organizing the banquet and their efforts met with unequalled success as every phase of the evening's activities carried through like a well oiled machine. Mrs. S. B. Ryan also was a member of the committee.

Mr. Joe Emmerson was chairman and kept the program rolling at a merry pace. The two old favorites, "Your Old Gray Bonnet" and "When You Were Sweet Sixteen" were sung by the entire gathering to get everyone into the swing of the evening. They were so successful that song after song was sung until the chairman called a halt to get into the program proper.

Speakers included W. Hayson, J. A. Park, J. J. McIntyre, D. B. Young and Geo. Reid who also made the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie.

In responding to the well wishes of the gathering and to the presentation Mr. Gillespie stated he was overwhelmed at the honor paid him and Mrs. Gillespie. He dwelt briefly in humorous vein with an evening fifty years ago that evening and stated that should he have to spend those fifty years all over again he would have no hesitation in once again choosing his "pal" of the past fifty to share them with him. He stated he was proud of every one of his seven daughters who in turn had presented him and Mrs. Gillespie with seven sons. Good health over the years had enabled them to enjoy each other's company to the full for which they were truly grateful.

1942 Compulsory Savings Now Being Refunded; Arriving At Rate Of Fifty Per Day Locally

Last weekend Postmaster Frank Graham found a stack of cheques in his mail bags which he is busy distributing to local citizens daily.

As promised by the Federal government the refundable portion of the 1942 income tax is being paid during March and will be completed before the end of the month.

Apparently the Federal treasury is adding the letter "A" to the cheques in sending out cheques as the local post office up to Thursday morning had received names starting from "A" right down to "G". Cheques are arriving in quantities of approximately fifty daily.

Grands Defeat And Tie Great Falls Club

Great Falls Goaltie Suffered Painful Cut on Face When Hit With Puck; Pow Played Most of Second Game in Falls' Net

Grands Canadiens travelled to Great Falls at the weekend where they met Great Falls hockey club in a two games exhibition series. The first game was won handily by Grands with an 8-2 score.

In Sunday night's game the first period had still five minutes remaining when Collings snared the puck, skated in on the opposing goalie and blasted one. The rubber caught the Great Falls' goalie in the face the wound requiring eleven stitches to close. Dave Pow was loaned to the American club for the balance of the game while Grands dressed young Trevor McDonald and placed him in their net. Dave was hot, however, and while Grands had the better of the play Dave held them out and skated off with a 4-4 tie.

Elks To Sponsor 'Days Of '98' Celebration

To Hold Event April 9 With Banquet and Dance; Men Growing Beards to Atmosphere" to Festivities.

If you happen to see a man walking the street with long bushy whiskers and a strange look in his eye do not become alarmed for the chances are he is an Elk and is only raising the beard for "atmosphere".

Coleman Elks, in general with Elks lodges throughout the province, are making arrangements to sponsor a "Days of '98" anniversary which will likely be held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Friday, April 9. A banquet and dance will be the highlights of the anniversary and possibly the "gent" growing the most foliage will receive a leather medal.

Last year the men and women of the Elks and Royal Purple wore clothing depicting the styles of '98 but this year the men are going a step further with the beards.

School Janitors Offered $100 Per Year Raise

Teachers Ask For $600 Boost Across The Board; Across Seek $40 Per Month Boost.

At a recent meeting of the school board the trustees met a delegation from the school janitors and one from the teachers' salary committee to discuss salaries.

The janitors asked a straight $40 per month boost which would give them an increase of $480. The three male janitors are at present being paid an annual salary of $1950 while the two lady janitors receive $900 each.

Following some discussion after the departure of the janitors' delegation it was decided to offer each janitor $100 raise. This offer has been sent to them by mail but up to Monday morning the Board had received no official notification that it had been accepted.

The teachers' delegation asked for a straight $600 increase across the board. The Board has countered with $150 increase and at the present moment both sides are still shadow boxing.

The $150 increase across the board will boost the teachers' salary budget by $3,150 there being twenty one teachers involved.

New Role For Princess Margaret Rose? May Serve As Good-Will Ambassador

By JUDY PECK
Central Press Canadian

BRITAIN'S top-hatted, soft-spoken envoys the world over work ceaselessly to create and keep good friends of the British empire. However, as a representative of empire they may soon need to bow to a slim, smiling 17-year-old girl.

Recalling how her uncle, the Duke of Windsor, as the Prince of Wales, created immense good will for the empire, British diplomatic circles see high possibilities of Princess Margaret Rose serving her king and her people in like manner.

The job of selling Margaret—and the British to the world should not be difficult, for already the young princess has displayed her inherent possibilities.

It is only now, however, with Princess Elizabeth safely married and temporarily out of the way that English wiseacres decided that the time is ripe for Margaret's debut into the public eye.

Just why the grooming for Margaret's salesmanship job did not begin sooner is a matter of conjecture. Some heretics comment that was unwise for the heiress presumptive, Elizabeth, to play understudy to a little sister.

They implied that had Margaret been given more notice by the Fleet street scribes, the campaign to "put Elizabeth across" would have suffered.

However, that's all over now and the British press can begin concentrating on the young girl who may one day be of infinite value to the British empire.

What is she really like?—this young daughter of the House of Windsor? The world is now beginning to find out.

An English nobelwoman, comparing Princess Elizabeth with Margaret, comments that it is the older sister whose nature it is "to warn, to comfort, to command."

GARDEN NOTES

Handling Nursery Stock

There is a wide range in the price and quality of shrubs, vines, plants and other items which come under the general heading of nursery stock. The real test is with the stock. Stock will grow quickly and sturdily. If the roots are dry and the upper part of the plant shrivelled, brownish and lacking buds, then one can be quite sure he paid too much, no matter what the price tag. It will probably die or take three or four years to get really growing.

Healthy stock, on the other hand, will come along quickly with hardly a check, especially if it has a healthy root system. Pruned vines, etc., should be kept cool and moist and if they cannot be planted in their permanent location right away they should be "heeled in", that is temporarily planted in a trench with the soil and watered in the same manner. When replanting, it is advisable to supply plenty of water and keep watered for the first few weeks. Planting is best done in the cool of the evening or on dull days, and some shade from hot sun is advisable with tiny things.

Are They Native Here?

In the magazines and newspapers one reads lots of beautiful flowers, shrubs and even vegetables that may not grow well in many parts of Canada. These things were developed for the Southern States or England where the climate is milder or the growing season longer.

One wastes money, time and work in trying them here. Our climate, soil and other conditions are not suitable, just as their conditions do not suit certain things that are abundantly available. To guard against the discouraging efforts to produce these tender plants here one is advised to stick to those flowers, shrubs and vegetables that are specially recommended for Canadian conditions. The latter are the varieties and types listed in the Canadian seed catalogues. These have all been tested under Canadian conditions and they are the only ones recommended by the Canadian authorities.

Building Up Garden Soil

With both clay and sand, cultivation is the best way to improve the vegetable matter, will work wonders. One of the best treatments, of course, is plenty of barnyard manure, but this is not always available and especially so in urban locations. Good ashes are excellent refuse, the tops of beets, carrots, parsnips, leeks, clippings, etc., or especially-green green oats, rye or clover dug or plowed under. With clay this opens up the soil and makes it more easily workable, less inclined to bake. With sand, green manure or vegetable material adds strength and helps it retain moisture.

Princess Margaret Rose—To British eyes—a billion-dollar smile

Margaret, the writer poetically noted, seems fated to "haunt, to startle, to waylay"—and a little less poetically, to put across another "Buy British" campaign in the world market.

To put it another way, Margaret is a place-attracting draw. Slim, blue-eyed and with a wide smile, the princess is already of such stature as to cause one of her father's subjects to slyly remark:

"The Old Boy'll have to keep 'is eye on that one, you can be sure."

Just now, Margaret is going through the same teen-age ups and downs besetting 17-year-olds the world over. Given to ultra-sophisticated hats and rather violent splashes of lip-stick, her parents nonetheless take these manifestations of growing up with a royal grain of salt.

Temporary rashiness is of somewhat grave nature than Elizabeth. An excellent mimic, she has more than once thrown the Windsor dinner table into gales of laughter with her takeoffs of some very important persons grooming her for her new job.

Any incident that reveals more than any other the less regal side of Margaret's nature is often recounted by adoring Englishmen.

The royal sisters were guests of honor at a rather formal and stuffy dinner party, and, doing what came naturally, they stepped out on to a balcony with their host for a breath of fresh air.

After a time, Princess Elizabeth, thoughtful of her duties to the empire, said: "I think we'd better be getting back or we'll be missed."

To this, Margaret rather testily replied: "You go back and take care of the empire. I'll stay here and take care of myself."

Let this story be misleading. It should be noticed that Margaret has a somewhat sardonic side which would lead her to respond readily to the call of duty.

Let this story be misleading. It should be noticed that Margaret has a somewhat sardonic side which would lead her to respond readily to the call of duty.

It was in one of these performances, incidentally, that Margaret best displayed her characteristically agile mind.

Margaret's role in the self-authored work was that of an angel. Draped in a translucent gown and a pair of ethereal, though carbond-wings, the princess mother admonished: "You'll have to be very good if you want to play your role well."

"Well, I may look like a holy angel," the quick-witted young lady replied, "but I certainly feel like a holy terror."

If Margaret is to play an important role in empire affairs, it is only natural that the question of a husband for her should be of great interest.

Buttons have already begun "marrying off" the princess to royalty both near and afar.

Ex-King Michael of Romania, for example, was considered a very likely contender for Margaret's affections until his recent abdication to wed Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parme.

Whatever the case, Princess Margaret will undoubtedly be hampered by fewer restrictions in choosing a husband, and greater guidance in her career, than was her sister.

There have even been hints that she would wed a commoner. Rumors that the king had forbidden Margaret

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

ANTIQUE TABLE

By THOMAS H. MASSON

"But, Madam," explained the floor manager of Gregory's Department store, "we can't locate the article you describe."

A voluptuous, well-attired, plainly foreign woman stood across the sparkling counter. She fumed; she fussed; she implored. He fumed; he fussed; he implored.

"I tell you," she countered, "I bought a bedroom suite from this store. You guaranteed to put it away for me until we were ready for it in our new home."

"Yes, madam," replied the manager, "but I believe you said a moment ago it was just the table belonging to the suite that we kept for you."

"It isn't necessary to split hairs. I ordered a double bed, a chaise lounge, a chair and a table. I have been dealing at this store for years."

"Even you took the bed, chaise lounge and chair, and left the table with us."

"That is correct," conceded the woman.

"I don't know what could have happened to it," signed the manager. "We are always careful with our records. Never has such a thing happened in this department."

The manager, a thin, plainly-ill-fled fellow, wearing out-dated, horn-rimmed glasses, scratched his head a moment. The large, substantially-built woman let her eyes wander over the girl behind the counter. Her fingers tapped impatiently on the glass top. The manager shifted from one foot to another.

"I demand to have that table!" shouted the woman.

People hurried about the store. It was not far from closing time and very little time was spent on courtesy. Now and again a hapless shopper dropped a bundle on the gaily-tiled floor. Hordes of people huddled-necked upon the unfortunate, like an army of ants on a lump of wet sugar.

In a half hour Saturday night would be the end of the affairs. Then all who had the clock made its painful revolutions on the surface of the lighted disc. Everybody counted the minutes, except those searching for the big woman's table. Four hours had elapsed since she first came into the store and demanded the table at the counter.

As closing time approached the noise in the shop grew intense. It was hard to hear her rasping voice as she said, "Are your clerks all blind? I demand to have that table!"

A cute young thing, fragly bundled together in a light green frock, skipped up to the manager—the tired, ill-fled floor manager with the horn-rimmed and out-dated glasses, standing on the other side of the counter. She fumed, the woman dressed in black. She stopped a few feet from the pair, stepped forward, then back—not sure whether to intrude.

"Yes, yes! What is it, girl?" demanded the manager.

As she opened her mouth to speak, the big woman withered her with a look of indignation. The pencilled black eyebrows raised in a note of expectation, and seemed to suspend themselves; daring the tiny girl to say:

"I'm sorry, madam, but we have just not been able to find the table. The staff have searched the 'will call' and repair department, the repair department and all the files."

The big woman fairly exploded. Do you mean to tell me that all your employees are so stupid they can't locate my table? This is an outrage! I demand to have that table!"

The floor manager, wittled by these remarks, shrank from the woman across the counter and swelled his puny physique before the tiny sales girl.

He eyed her coldly and remarked, "This floor has the best reputation for accuracy in Gregory's. It is impossible that you cannot locate madam's table."

"I demand that you find it," added the big woman who had unwittingly allowed her eyebrow to fall back in place.

The manager waived the tiny girl off once more, turned to the woman on the other side of the counter, and with an air of great confidence asked, "Madam, we don't like to do this, but it would help us greatly if you could show us our bill. Understand, this is a favor. We have done well, it seems to imply."

The big woman sighed, "Of course I'll pay my bill. I'll find it in my purse. Just one moment."

A profusion of lipstick, handkerchiefs, powder puffs, keys and compacts and a billfold were straight-forth deposited on the counter. She grabbed the billfold, which dropped out lastly, and searched its contents. "Here is it," she exclaimed.

The manager handled the yellowed piece of paper, looked at it a moment and then turned a delicate shade of blue around the ears.

"Madam, this bill is dated 1933."

MADE WITH LEMON LIME

In The Legislature

By E. O. Duke

Figures were given in the House last week to show that lumber production has been increased by more than 400% and railway tie production is up to 100%, as compared with 1935 figures. Considerable attention is being given to the possibility of pulp and paper production in Edmonton and Red Deer. The Department requires that they have sufficient finance and that there be sufficient timber to guarantee continuous operations and that conservation practices be followed, either by selective cutting or reforestation, or both.

Hon. Mr. Taylor, minister of Lands and Mines, pointed out that it was the government's policy to encourage the development of oil and petroleum production in Alberta. He stressed that the United States today drills more footage in one month than all the drilling that has been done in the Province of Alberta to date.

It is the policy of the Government to have the majority of the people secure a fair return from the development of this resource. Royalties have been increased, until they today run to 12 1/2%, or some on a sliding scale to 15%. The Conservation Board, set up by this Government, exists for the purpose of preventing waste of gas and oil and for the greatest ultimate recovery of the products from the ground. It is recognized as the best conservation program on the North American continent.

To date, in this province, more than 165 million dollars have been spent in the search, exploration and development of oil, while during that same period of time the amount realized from the industry is ten million dollars less, or approximately 155 million dollars. During the same period of time the Alberta Government has received, by way of royalties, upwards of 16 million dollars.

In the field of forest conservation an Eastern Rockies Conservation Board has been set up, and the Dominion government has agreed to grant six million dollars for capital expenditures and up to $300,000 for administration. This program is important in the interests of forest, fish, fur, game and water resources.

The idea of establishing a branch of the University of Alberta at Calgary was considered in the House and turned down.

When one is nearing the end of life's journey it is both comforting and heartening to find that others are not strangers and forgoes and to learn that not only have they been fortunate in making friends but also in keeping them.

It is very encouraging to find that one stands high in the esteem of their friends and it embues one with the ambition to make even efforts to deserve to retain that precious treasure.

I regret that on account of receiving so many cards and telegrams expressing goodwill, and kindly greetings that I cannot contact each one separately and feel compelled to take this method of reaching them and so I wish to assure all who are well and happy, and to those who are ill, that the many friends who attended and those who sent cards and telegrams of our sincere appreciation.

Mr. D. Gillespie.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

Beware of boredom!

Many people spoil their chances for success in their work, blight a happy home life and even harm their health—because they allow themselves to be bored. So if you find you are losing your zest for living, take that as a warning signal.

Contrary to what you may think, boredom is not an unfortunate state of mind due to circumstances beyond your control. It is your fault. But within you lies the power to change.

Try reading new books and different magazines. Go to work by a different route; now and again. Dress in your best clothes more often. Bring home some unexpected treats. Develop new interests and hobbies.

Above all, take more interest in other people. Speak to them differently, enthusiastically. And lend a helping hand wherever you can.

You'll soon wonder how you could ever have found life dull! And you'll find that your corner of the world is a mighty interesting place after all!

It may also pay you to take a new interest in your life insurance program from time to time. Your family's needs keep changing. So it's wise to keep reviewing your policies to see if they meet your changing requirements.

Out Vancouver Way

The Journal's "roving" reporter made a brief visit to the west coast on business.

As we travelled the last fifty miles or so towards Vancouver the heavy snow experienced in the west coast province this year started to disappear and upon reaching Vancouver the sun was shining, streets were damp from recent rain but the weather was quite warm and there was the feeling that spring was in the air. Quite a contrast to the weather we had left only a few short hours before in Alberta.

Adam Walker, looking like a million, was at the station to meet us. After lunch we set off to see Angelo Gentile and thus keep a promise made to his mate. Upon entering the Mount View Hotel on Hastings street which is managed by Angelo the first men we laid eyes upon was Angelo behind the bar and seated at a table were Ralph Brown, Tom Lawlor, Dan Foster and a fellow named Servo or Serko who also hails from Coleman. Ralph works at Marley's a Vancouver suburb and was down visiting Angelo whom he had not seen for some considerable time. Tom is still enjoying life to the full. He wanted to be remembered to his Coleman friend Angelo, who gets his journal each week, had seen the first pictures and knew the full extent of the fire. It is quite possible he may visit Coleman next month.

We were taken to a soccer game between Vancouver City and the Dundas, Ontario team. While we waited for the arrival of some friends Mr. Jack Johnston, father of Mrs. W. S. Purvis, came over and spoke a few minutes. He was aware of Coleman's fire and the fact that his daughter had again won top honors in the drama festival. Apparently he too received the news from the various local activities that were under way. The Scottish accent heard around the soccer field was so thick one could have cut it with a knife.

While walking past Spencer's on Hastings street we bumped in to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kyle and two children who had just finished shopping. Monday afternoon we visited them at their home and met Mr. and Mrs. George Duffield who wished to be remembered to Coleman friends.

Monday morning we had cause to board a Pacific stage coach and upon handing our ticket to the driver we were given a big grin and a "Hi, Angelo!" The driver turned out to be Laurie Joseph. He had gained employment with the Pacific Stage Coach lines three years before as a driver and was doing all right for himself. He invited us to sit "up front" with him and during our trip of about an hour and a half we talked of Coleman and of course we talked of Coleman and of Colemanites in Vancouver and how they were faring in their new surroundings. He is having housing difficulties and has been promised one of the new homes at present being built in the city for war veterans and which are scheduled to be ready for occupancy sometime in July. He plans on visiting Coleman with his wife and family in the Fall.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

The Women's Association of St. Paul's United church sponsored a miscellaneous shower in the club room last Thursday night in support of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, who were burnt out of home and business in Coleman's disastrous fire last month.

Approximately fifty persons were present and a number sent presents in concert with which the parcels were opened and the gifts passed around for all to see.

Unfortunately Mrs. Williams, who is residing with her family at Nanton, was unable to be present and the gifts will be forwarded to her.

Gifts were received from persons of all church denominations and the executive of the W.A. express thanks for the wonderful support given to the project.

Dr. Newman

OF INTEREST IN AGRICULTURAL and scientific circles throughout Canada was the retirement, at the end of February, of Dr. L. Newman, who had held the post of Dominion Cerealist for the last twenty-five years. In 1923, Dr. Newman succeeded the late Sir Charles Edward Saunders who had inaugurated cereal research in Canada, and developed the famous Marquis wheat. This work was carried on by Dr. Newman, and while he was head of the cereal division of the Department of Agriculture's Experimental Farms Service, a number of new and important varieties of wheat, including Garnet, Reward, Cascade, Saunders, Regent and Coronation were introduced, as well as Vanguard and Beaver oats. Some of these new varieties, notably Reward and Garnet wheat, have brought high honors in competitions to many Canadian growers.

Attacked Wheat Stem Sawfly

In addition to his successful effort to breed wheat which would resist stem rust, Dr. Newman also attacked the problem of the wheat stem sawfly, which at that time was causing damage in some sections of Western Canada costing the farmers millions of dollars. In co-operation with entomologists and plant pathologists of the Agriculture Department's science service, and the Dominion experimental station at Swift Current, Sask., he experimented in breeding a wheat which would resist this destructive insect. Out of more than one hundred varieties, which were grown in the course of the experiment, one, which became known as Roseau, showed the greatest resistance to sawfly attacks.

A Contribution To Agriculture

Dr. Newman was born in Ontario and graduated from the Agricultural College at Guelph in 1903. He later studied in the United States, at Cambridge University in England, and in Sweden. From 1905 until he became Dominion Cerealist in 1923, he was secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, and he is a past president of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculture. The achievements of Dr. Newman, who has devoted his abilities and energies for many years to reducing the hazards to farm crops, is a notable contribution indeed to the progress of agriculture in Canada. To him, and to the others who carry on this work great credit and appreciation are due, for their efforts result in the saving of millions of dollars to farmers here and in other countries. Although Dr. Newman has retired as Dominion Cerealist, his interest in agriculture will not cease and he will no doubt continue to play a part in advancing scientific agriculture in Canada.

Sell Canada To World Through Pride

Advertising Man Says
We Must Be Vocal—
About Our Pride

ST. CATHARINES, Ont.—"We are not going to sell Canada to the world by concealing ourselves modestly under a bushel basket," says Don Henshaw, a senior executive of the McLaren Advertising Agency in an address to the St. Catharines Kiwanis Club.

"We have to be proud of Canada and we have to be vocal about it. We who kill ourselves to make Canada great are going to shout to some extent. We will continue to play it down as using the wrong tactics," he declared. "Canada has the greatest opportunity of any country in the world since the United States grabbed its golden chance after the civil war. We have a nation of infinite possibilities. It was conceived as no other nation ever was in the face of climate, transportation and political obstacles but it has forged ahead to world prominence."

But we are entirely too reticent in promoting the glories of this land of ours, Mr. Henshaw stated. "We have no national heroes. We take them from the Motherland or borrow them from neighbors. The voice of a Churchill or a Roosevelt was much more eloquent of than the voice of a Mackenzie King."

Stating that he had become a Canadian citizen in 1939 after being born in the United States, Mr. Henshaw said he was prompted to make the change by the attachment he had formed in living in Canada for five years previously and his marriage to a Canadian girl.

U.S. Residents Cross Border To Shop

FORT ERIE, Ont.—Thousands of United States residents cross the border daily to shop here. Most come from Buffalo, N.Y., where prices of food and other commodities are higher than in Canada.

Food is the main item purchased by the Americans but some visitors shop for tweeds. Butler costs about 20 cents a pound less in Ontario than in New York State and meat prices are from 10 to 35 cents a pound lower here.

"I figure that I can save a $3 purchase," says one Buffalo resident. "It costs me 25 cents to cross the border each way and the cost of gasoline used in the trip is not much more than driving to the shopping area in Buffalo."
